

Allies Line Up To Brand Red Chinese

France Follows U.S. Lead, But Britain Silent On Action In U.N.

NEW YORK (CP)—President Truman said today the United States will roll up all the pressure it can to brand Red China as an aggressor in Korea. The U.S. delegation at Lake Success prepared to press these charges.

While Communist armies in Korea manoeuvred for what appeared to be an early all-out offensive, an emergency meeting of the United Nations political committee was scheduled to take action on Peiping's rejection of the U.N. cease-fire plan.

Dean Acheson, U.S. Secretary of State, denounced the Peiping regime for its "contemptuous disregard of a world-wide demand for peace" and said its answer to the United Nations cease-fire plan was unacceptable. He was backed unreservedly by President Truman.

France has joined the United States in agreeing to condemn Red China as an aggressor.

Other countries may try to delay action until they have had time to consider Peiping's peace terms, received Wednesday night along with its rejection of the U.N. peace plan.

India was expected to take the stand the latest Red Chinese reply does not constitute an out-and-out rejection.

Canada Tries For Middle Course

In Ottawa External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated he does not feel the Red Chinese reply closes the door entirely to settlement.

Observers in Ottawa said Canada is expected to work for an approach to the crisis that would condemn Red China's aggressive acts without splitting the western powers. They saw hope that a middle course may be found.

At Lake Success, the United States delegation prepared to introduce a resolution which would condemn Communist China as an aggressor. The Americans fear a collapse of the collective security principle if aggression is allowed to go unpunished.

There were indications the U.N. course of action on Red China threatens to split the free world.

In Paris Wednesday, India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, a power in Asia, said that to brand China as an aggressor "would bolt and bar the door to peaceful settlement" in the Far East.

Britain's cabinet went into session to consider new orders to be sent to Sir Gladwyn Jebb, British chief delegate at the United Nations. Jebb was expected to place the British point of view before the political and security committee of the U.N. Assembly at its meeting this afternoon.

SPRING HAIRCUTS TO GO UP 10c, BARBERS WARN

Price of haircuts went up 10 cents in Vancouver today and a similar increase in Victoria before spring appears certain. The increase to 85 cents is made necessary by increased operating costs. Journeymen barbers will receive seven cents of the increase and owners three cents.

In Victoria, journeymen barbers are expected to ask for more pay before spring. Barbers now receiving $30 a week guarantee and a percentage of the take, average around $40 a week.

CANADIANS IN KOREA ENGAGE GUERRILLAS

Princess Pats Fire First Shots In Anger; Soldier Killed While Demonstrating 'Mine'

By WILLIAM BOSS

KIRYANG, Korea (CP)—Canadian troops have engaged guerrilla elements blamed for the ambush-killing last week-end of two New Zealand soldiers and the wounding of two others.

Soon after a New Zealand battery sergeant-major and a driver were found slain after torture in an after-dark attack and two other New Zealanders were wounded in another incident, a company of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, led by Maj. Vince Lilley of Hamilton, encircled a guerrilla stronghold in the Korean hills.

Maj. Lilley said he believed his men, reinforced by 300 Republic of Korea Police, wounded at least three guerrillas.

He added that the operation was continuing. The Canadians were asked recently to clear their southeast Korean area of guerrillas thought to be lurking in the district.

The raid on the stronghold came about through information gathered by Lieut. Peter McKenzie of Vancouver a few days earlier. As soon as Lieut. McKenzie reported, the Canadians started to tighten their perimeter. But they had no results until noon Jan. 16 when 12 members of a suspected 225-man force were sighted and engaged.

Lt. Col. J. M. (Big Jim) Stone of Edmonton and Salmon Arm, B.C., went northward Jan. 16 to the headquarters of Brig. Tom Brodie of the 29th British Commonwealth Brigade. Apparently the impression there was that the Patricia's have about completed their indoctrination program agreed upon by Col. Stone and the late Gen. Walton Walker. Col. Stone advised Brig. Brodie that, the broad-picture permitting, the original timetable has not been altered.

KILLED BY MINE
Meanwhile, Canadian ground forces today suffered their first major casualty in Korea when a soldier of the P.P.C.L.I. died of wounds suffered during a mine demonstration.

(The soldier's name was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.)

The soldier suffered the loss of his right hand and forearm and major neck injuries when the mine exploded yesterday during a demonstration he was giving to the regiment's company sergeant majors.

The mine, apparently a dud, failed to go off when the soldier fired it. He approached it, grasped it and was hurling it away when it exploded.

A regimental court of inquiry headed by Capt. Andy Foulds of Vancouver has been set up to establish cause of the accident.

ARTHUR J. BURNS

City Lawyer In Charge Of June Census

Well known Victoria lawyer and naval veteran, Arthur J. Burns, has been appointed commissioner in charge of the Victoria census in June, according to an announcement by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Other Vancouver Island commissioners will be William E. Poupore, Sidney, in charge of Nanaimo district, and W. J. Pollock, Comox-Alberni.

The coming census, expected to be the most important in Canadian history, will include population, agriculture, housing, wholesale and retail trade, and commercial fishing. Field work will be done by field supervisors and enumerators working under the commissioner.

Truman Speeds U.S. Program For Control Of Wages, Prices

Ceilings To Be Imposed 'Soon,' He Announces

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today the United States government will bring prices and wages under control just as rapidly as it can.

He told his press conference he could not attempt to pin down the date of a price-wage freeze or other action, but said ceilings will be imposed as soon as practicable.

He said he had not discussed with Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson a reported proposal to bring Eric Johnston, former president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, into the office of Defence Mobilization as chief economic advisor.

But Truman said he was sure Wilson would discuss with him such a proposal if Wilson has it in mind.

(The New York Times said today the Motion Picture Association of America, which Johnston now heads, had agreed to grant him leave for the government post.)

'Freeze' Seen Within Few Days

Wilson last night called for "speed and forthrightness" in the application of price and wage controls. Other high officials said privately the O.D.M. director favors a general freeze within a few days.

In the absence of any official word on exact timing, the best guess seemed to be that a general price freeze, probably rolling back present high levels somewhat, would come perhaps within a week—almost certainly not much longer.

Wilson said in a Philadelphia speech Wednesday night:

"Voluntary methods will not work... the power of the law must be invoked... whatever the causes for delay up to now, we must proceed with courage, speed and forthrightness to adopt the controls which will insure stability and fairness in our civilian economy."

Police Silent On Motive For Murder And Suicide

City police know the motive behind the Tuesday night murder-suicide shooting in the Lincoln Hotel, but will not divulge it.

Police Chief John Blackstock said it was not in the public welfare to reveal the motive. It is questionable if the details will be described at the inquest tomorrow morning at Hayward's Funeral Parlor at 10.30.

Tank-Led Allied Patrol Escapes Communist Trap

Break Off Fight On Western Front

TOKYO (AP)—Tank-led Allied troops battled two companies of Chinese Reds tonight in a brief but fierce local clash in and near Kumyangjang on the Korean western front.

The U.N. patrol, under air cover, then smashed out of a threatened enemy envelopment.

The reconnaissance patrol reported one of the Chinese companies held dug-in positions northwest of the village, and the other in the town itself.

The patrol estimated it killed or wounded 25 Reds in an hour and a half fight.

For a time the Reds threatened to flank the patrol's positions and cut off part of the probing arc. But the Americans fought their way out.

Some allied casualties were reported and some equipment was lost in the withdrawal.

The allied scout-raider force was one of several feeling out the strength in the vanguard of what appears to be a Communist offensive build-up all across the peninsula.

WARNING SOUNDED

An allied commander said: "All hell might break loose pretty soon."

A.P. correspondent Jim Becker reported the Kumyangjang fight started at 4 p.m. Thursday (2 a.m. E.S.T.) and was still raging an hour later, with the allied commander of a motorized patrol calling for air support.

Then, after 90 minutes of fighting, the allied commander reported he had pulled both his units out of the town and taken one prisoner.

Becker quoted the allied commander as saying he had encountered a large enemy group, was facing heavy resistance before the pull-out and that his position was being flanked by the Chinese Reds.

It was the first strong action reported by patrols prowling the far-flung Korean war lines during the day. They penetrated as deep as 26 miles.

Derailed Log Car Halts E. & N. Service 2 Hours

Service on the E. & N. Railway was interrupted for two hours and 15 minutes today when a car loaded with logs was derailed and its load spilled onto the track causing some damage. Telegraph wires were broken in the mishap, but linemen were repairing them this afternoon.

The accident occurred about a mile and a half north of Chemainus at 10.05, and tracks were repaired by 12.20.

The daily northbound passenger train was held at Duncan for 40 minutes till the repairs were effected.

No one was injured.

Provinces Get Federal Age Pension Plans

OTTAWA (CP)—Drafts of proposed constitutional amendments to provide for a provincial indirect sales tax and a federal contributory old-age pensions program have been sent to the provincial governments for consideration, it was learned today.

The amendments, drafted by the Justice Department and sent to the provinces a short time ago, must be approved by all 10 provincial governments before any change can be made to the constitution. So far none of the provinces has expressed an opinion.

Decision to consider the amendments was taken at the federal-provincial fiscal conference here last December.

The federal government at that time proposed a $40-a-month pension to all 70 and over regardless of means. It offered to share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of pensions to the needy between 65 and 69.

Heavy Snowstorm Hits Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A heavy snowstorm hit Vancouver during mid-morning, causing hazardous road conditions.

The storm lasted about an hour, and weather officials predicted more snow later in the day.

The snowbelt extended from the coast into interior Okanagan Valley, where it was snowing today.

NO MORE BIG WINDS

Forecast Light Snow Tomorrow; Heavy Fall At Lake Cowichan

The weatherman today seemed to have recovered from his fall from grace in the eyes of many Victorians, but his oscillating popularity may hit the skids again Friday if and when predicted light snow develops.

The man with the instruments atop Gonzales Hill languished in good favor and comparatively mild northerly winds, just as he had predicted, wafted across the city.

Storm Insurance Much In Demand

After watching flying debris in Victoria's 75-mile-per-hour gale, 25 per cent of policy holders have applied to have storm damage included in their contracts on homes and automobiles.

These contracts, according to a local adjuster, cover wind damage from falling trees or wrecked roofs, water damage, trouble caused by falling aircraft, and several other points.

The clouds which hung over the Sooke Hills were mute warning of more unsettled weather, but it was with a collective sigh of relief citizens heard that the big winds apparently are gone for the present at least.

One degree of frost was forecast for Victoria tonight with a high of 40 Friday.

Overnight, most of island was blanketed by a snowfall which made roads treacherous in many places.

A sudden hailstorm, followed by a half-hour fall of wet snow blanketed the city between 6 and 7 Wednesday night, and drivers on hills off the main roads had difficulty till the snow melted later in the evening.

Total snowfall recorded at the Gonzales Observatory was nine-tenths of an inch.

Most up-land points reported snow was turning to slush and disappearing. But at Lake Cowichan, a three-inch fall on top of two-feet of old snow appeared to be there to stay for a time. Nanaimo had about five inches of snow, Duncan one inch, and the Sidney-Patricia Bay region about two inches.

The Island Highway near Victoria was icy early this morning, and several minor accidents were reported. Four Mile Hill was said to be treacherous for motorists driving to work.

Graders were keeping the Malahat relatively clear, and chains were not essential as long as motorists did not stop on hills. Snow on the highway is hard-packed.

See where Princess Margaret has been scolded for "followin' the hounds." Reckon she'd have come in for a lot more criticism if she'd got in front of 'em.

Carpenters, Others Fail To Win Jobless Pay

More than 500 Victoria carpenters and laborers who applied for unemployment insurance benefits when most major construction jobs closed down last April during the strike by truckers at the building supply firm of Evans, Coleman and Johnson Brothers received disappointing news from Ottawa today.

Mr. Justice Alfred Savard, Unemployment Insurance Commission umpire, has notified Victor Midgley, business agent for local carpenters, that he would not allow the claims of the Victoria construction men.

"My decision is that the claimants lost their employment by reason of a stoppage of work due to a labor dispute at the premises at which they were employed," the umpire declared, "and by virtue of their own action they became participants or belonged to a grade or class which was participating in said labor dispute."

"The appeals of carpenters' and laborers' unions are dismissed and appeals of the insurance officer are allowed," he decided.

There is no recourse for appealing the umpire's decision.

Youngest Judge

County Court Judge for Nanaimo, Arthur George McCulloch, 39, of Port Alberni, who succeeds Lawrence A. Hanna, advanced to a senior position, is believed to be the youngest judge in history.

called for a general strike throughout Rome to protest the arrival of Eisenhower. But Wednesday night orders were changed to a one-hour walkout of workers to attend a mass meeting and to hear Communist labor leader Giuseppe Di Vittorio. During this time streetcar and bus service was ordered halted. But the government warned it would deal hard with any attempt to stop transport or public services.

Reuters news agency said that more than 1,000 persons were arrested—most of them in the northern industrial area known as the Red belt where sporadic strikes held big factories and public services in a state of "jitters."

Ker Willing To Resume As Town Planner

H. B. Ker wired from New York today his willingness to withdraw his resignation from the Town Planning Commission. Following council action of Tuesday, requesting the nine members who resigned en masse to reconsider, a wire was sent Mr. Ker who leaves today for Britain.

"I am very pleased," said Mayor George. "I hope it is an indication of what the others will do."

In his wire Mr. Ker assumed "assurance for improved future understanding."

The mayor while welcoming him back said he did not see how any change of policy could be inaugurated, since the council could never tie itself to a pre-arranged agreement concerning acceptance of all commission recommendations.

"A conference between the council and commission may be the answer to bring a closer understanding of prerogatives of each," Mayor George said.

IKE TO MEET FORMER FOE

BONN (Reuters)—Gen. Eisenhower will meet two of the German generals who were his adversaries in the Second World War at a reception near Frankfurt Monday night, officials said here today.

The former generals—Adolf Heusinger, former Chief of Operations to the German High Command, and Hans Speidel, former Chief of Staff to Field Marshal Rommel—are taking part in negotiations with the Allies on a West German contingent for European defence.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

SOJOURNER TRUTH

EVER SINCE I had the pleasure and privilege of meeting Miss Frieda S. Miller, head of the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor, while on an eastern trip, she has extended to me the courtesy of keeping me supplied with reports and publications issued by her department.

And, as a result of conversations revealing our mutual interest in women's problems, she kindly sent me a copy of the report of the Women's Bureau conference held in Washington, D.C., two years ago. Although two years old, the happenings at that conference have lost none of their interest and timeliness.

CENTURY-OLD ECHO

WHILE PERUSING that report, my attention was caught and held by a dramatic incident related by a speaker who was reviewing the history and background of the women's rights movement in the United States. It happened at Akron, Ohio, in 1851 at an annual convention of the National Women's Rights Association.

The meeting was being held in a church and, as the proceedings opened a tall, gaunt Negress, clad in grey with a white turban upon which was perched a sunbonnet, marched up the aisle and perched herself on the steps of the pulpit.

BORN IN SLAVERY

MRS. FRANCES GAGE, who presided at that convention, left a description of the subsequent happenings concerning that Negress, which was read at the 1948 Women's Bureau conference. Here it is:

"Morning, afternoon and evening exercises came and went, and through all of these she sat, crouched against the wall on the corner of the pulpit stairs, her sunbonnet shading her eye, her elbows hard on her knees, her chin resting upon her broad, calloused palms. She was quiet and reticent.

"She was so old that she had been born in slavery in New York but age, apparently, had made no mark upon her determination. The women feared she might want to speak and thereby bring up the issue of slavery and confuse it with that of suffrage. But she did not ask to speak."

MINISTERS OPPOSED

ON THE SECOND day, Mrs. Gage writes in her reminiscences, ministers of every denomination came to speak against the resolutions. They invoked God to support their contention that it was irreverent to claim equality for women. The crowd of spectators, which jeered and sneered as each woman's rights' resolution came up, waited expectantly for the defeat of the women delegates.

Suddenly the gaunt Negress rose from the pulpit steps and asked leave to speak. A tumult was nipped in the bud by her towering presence. Her voice was low, but it spread into the sudden hush and awed the crowd. She bared her arms and turned her calloused palms to the audience. These hands and arms had ploughed, planted and gathered crops into barns. She had borne 13 children and had had to stand by while each was sold into slavery. No one had comforted her heartbreak but God, she told them.

HER REBUTTAL

SHE RAISED a bony, gnarled finger and pointed it at the minister who had invoked the testimony of God. "Den dat little man in black dar, he say women can't have as much rights as men, 'cause Christ wasn't a woman! Whar did yo' Christ come from? Whar did yo' Christ come from? From God and a woman! Man had nothin' to do wid Him!"

That century-old report states that applause rolled like thunder and crushed the little man in black as she dramatically rebutted his charges that God was not on the side of the women in their claims for justice.

OLD AS EVE

NEXT, THAT GAUNT old black woman took up another charge, this time defending Eve herself: "If de fust woman God ever made was strong enough to turn de world upside down all alone, dese women together ought to be able to turn it back, and get it right side up again! Now dey is askin' to do it, de men better let 'em!"

That woman's name was Sojourner Truth. Born in slavery, enduring hardships almost beyond human endurance, she proved her bigness and her bravery when she destroyed the theological arguments by her simple, human facts. In my opinion, that poignant picture contains a lesson for women today, whatever their creed or color.

Ladysmith Plans No Replacement Of Big Flagpole

LADYSMITH—The city council has no plans for replacing the famous flagpole which came to grief two weeks ago.

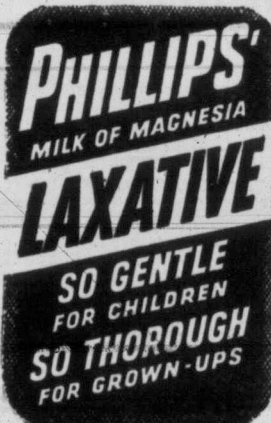

The pole, a gift to the city from Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd., was erected in 1936, and symbolized the city's return to prosperity following years of grim depression.

Standing in Coronation Square on Roberts Street, it was 110 feet above ground and at the time was considered the highest in the province.

"The trouble started during the war," according to Robert S. Wood, city clerk. "Rope was in short supply and people that couldn't buy it would help themselves at the flagpole. Altogether we had about 500 feet of rope put on that pole."

Eventually it rotted at the base, and was posing a bit of a problem as to how it was to be lowered without damaging surrounding property.

An anonymous motorist ran into a guy wire and the pole crashed.

Huge Trestle Opens Route For 60-Ton Log Loads

By DON INGHAM

DUNCAN—Within a few weeks logging trucks with a gross vehicle weight of more than 60 tons will be rolling down a new road and across a huge trestle built by H. R. MacMillan Export Co., Shawinigan Lake Division.

The trestle, about 700 feet long, crosses the Island Highway at Kokislah, just a stone's throw south of the C.N.R. bridge. It is about the same height as the railroad bridge.

A gravel fill is being made on the other side of the highway, where the road will lead on to Cowichan Bay.

This road will eliminate the former procedure of dumping the trucks at dry landings and reloading the logs on railroad cars, a time-consuming operation that adds to the cost of production.

Federal, Provincial Members Will Speak

DUNCAN—A joint meeting of the Canadian Legion and Women's Auxiliary will be held Friday to hear Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P.; Andrew Whisker, M.L.A. for Cowichan-Newcastle, and Col. A. G. B. Lewis of Cobble Hill.

Gardiner Asks Change In Canada Food Pacts

Wants Country To Have Authority To Enforce Contracts With Britain

TORONTO (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Thursday night he is in favor of amending the constitution to give Canada authority to enforce bulk food contracts with Britain in peacetime.

In an address to the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, he said Britain buys half the food it consumes. It takes food under the bulk contract system with other countries which can sign these agreements because their governments have the power to enforce deliveries.

But not in Canada. Under the existing Canadian constitution no government had that power in peacetime when enforced food deliveries were matters for individual provinces. In wartime, under the War Measures Act, Canada could sign food contracts with Britain and guarantee delivery.

Between 1940 and 1945 Canada signed contracts for bacon, beef, mutton, lamb, cheese, milk, poultry and eggs. Only the cheese contract still is operating, Mr. Gardiner said.

DUNCAN—Employees of North Cowichan Municipality represented by Duncan Civic and North Cowichan Municipal Employees' Federal Union, according to the 1951 wage agreement, will receive 10 cents an hour increase, and seven paid holidays per year.

Original demand of the union was 17 cents per hour, 12 paid holidays, and sick leave with pay. The council's offer on the first two items was accepted, but on the sick pay question the council said employees were amply covered by the Workmen's Compensation Board and Medical Services Association plan.

Canadian Soldier Killed, 4 Injured In Car Mishap

FORT LEWIS (BUP)—One soldier was killed, another maimed for life, and three others injured in an automobile collision just south of Tacoma early today.

Sgt. William A. Rathbun, 36, Calgary, special force soldier, was dead on arrival at Madigan army hospital here.

Rathbun died from compound fractures of both legs and head injuries.

Frank E. Dunkeson, 18, U.S. soldier, had his lower right leg sheared off and his right arm broken, while L. S. Conroy, a Canadian soldier, suffered a broken right leg.

The three, along with two other soldiers, had hitch-hiked a ride with Theodore Marko, 32, of Fort Lewis. Marko stopped at a service station to refuel and could not start his car again. The five hitch-hikers began to push the car on Highway 99 while Marko attempted to start it.

At that time a source connected with the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, suggested the decree might have been intended to apply to Rotary organizations in Europe and South America, where they are sometimes associated with Masonry.

Congressman Queries Alcan B.C. Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Thor Tollefson (R-Wash.) posed a series of questions today for Charles E. Wilson, Defence Mobilization director, concerning "a rumored proposal to expend United States funds for the construction of an aluminum plant in Canada."

In a letter which Tollefson made public, he asked the director these questions:

1. Does the project entail construction of a power dam and, if so, would not the same expenditure fill the same requirements if made in the United States?

2. Would such an aluminum plant compete with U.S. industry after the present emergency is over?

3. If construction of a power dam is involved, what plans, if any, are under consideration for the protection of fishery resources?

Regarding the last question Tollefson said his particular concern was whether the dam would be built on the Fraser River in British Columbia.

(Last week, the Aluminum Company of Canada signed an agreement with the British Columbia government on water rights for a $500,000,000 power development and aluminum plant in the Kitimat area.)

Free Island Youth Of Murder Charge

A Duncan Indian youth has been cleared of suspicion of the Christmas Eve slaying of a 75-year-old recluse near Burley, Wash. Tom Joseph George, 18, was freed from jail, where he had been since shortly after Christmas under a murder warrant.

Prosecutor John Merkle said the youth had submitted to a lie detector test and authorities are convinced of his innocence. He said the youth explained that he signed a confession after his arrest because he was frightened and confused.

George was arrested in Seattle a few days after Daniel O'Brien was found shot to death in his cabin near Burley.

64 Deepsea Vessels Docked In 11 Weeks

By JIM McKEACHIE

Much of the glamour of Victoria's waterfront was measured in terms of passenger liners that called here. With their gradual disappearance, many people said Victoria was not what it used to be and some went so far as to term it a "dead port."

Nothing could be further from the truth—and figures compiled by customs officials show why:

In the past 11 weeks 64 deep-sea cargo ships have docked at the port of Victoria—which includes Cowichan Bay.

Sixteen discharged general cargo at Ogden Point and the remainder took on lumber.

Full figures to date for this month are not available, but the continuous activity at Ogden Point and Cowichan Bay during November and December is reflected in the following compilations:

In November 28 ships docked for lumber, loading a total of 15,219,436 board feet. In December there were 24 vessels which loaded a total of 16,283,208.

VALUED AT $2,800,000

That means that 31,502,644 feet of lumber was exported from this area in nine weeks. Value was slightly over $2,800,000.

The United Kingdom was the largest single importer of B.C. lumber, taking 6,942,840 feet in November and 6,666,146 feet in December.

Second was the U.S. Atlantic seaboard. Shipments of wood products to that coast in November totaled 3,836,327 feet, in December 3,423,478.

Here is where the rest of the lumber went, with the November and December board footage in that order:

Australia 1,539,681, 3,706,882; Hawaii 655,296, 252,204; South Africa 940,446, 1,508,051; Germany 48,485 November only; Holland 355,944 November only; Sweden 306,944 November only; Belgium 159,469 November only; and Greece 726,447 December only.

Britain Short Of Hospital Space, Blood

LONDON (AP)—The unprecedented amount of illness in Britain has caused two serious shortages, in blood and in hospital space, doctors reported today.

A group representing 6,000 London doctors said that one of every three emergency cases is being refused admission to hospitals.

The director of a regional blood transfusion service sent out an SOS for blood, declaring 300 hospitals in the area north of London are short of it.

The London local medical committee made three recommendations to alleviate the shortage of hospital space.

They urged that maternity cases in which no complications are expected be delivered at home. They also asked postponement of cases requiring non-urgent surgery and that extra beds be added to existing wards.

Approaching A Showdown

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO FORESEE AND difficult to exaggerate the dangers which follow the refusal of Communist China to accept the United Nations' offer of a truce in Korea.

Mao Tse-tung's government has not rejected a truce outright. It is ready to talk peace if all foreign troops are withdrawn from Korea. Such a withdrawal already has been proposed by the United Nations, but the offer is based on the condition that the Koreans, under United Nations' supervision, shall establish their own independent government. While it is not clear from the Chinese statement yesterday, it would appear that China will be satisfied only with a Korean government "friendly" in the familiar Russian sense, to Chinese Communism—another Communist puppet. This would mean defeat for all the United Nations' aims in Korea.

The conditions laid down by Mao, however, have been declared "unacceptable" to the United States government" by Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Canada's Lester B. Pearson, key figure in U.N. efforts to achieve a cease-fire in Korea, stands by Mr. Acheson's statement that "we have gone as far as we could go . . . to meet the Chinese."

However, it may be possible to reach agreement on Korean elections if Mao is seriously interested in peace. The more formidable demand raised by China is the withdrawal of United States power from Formosa—at once a serious military retreat and presumably a step politically impossible in the United States Congress.

Unless some compromise can be effected at the eleventh hour, there now emerges the supreme threat to the unity of the free world. If the United States is convinced that Mao has offered impossible terms, it presumably will insist that the United Nations declare China an aggressor. If China is thus branded, action in some form, must be directed against her or else the writ of the United Nations is meaningless.

But while the United States apparently has no intention of bogging down its strength in a large Asiatic war, it would be folly to assume that the steps taken against China, by blockade, air attack or otherwise could be limited at the will of the western nations.

It will be for China to decide whether such a limited war should spread. Action against China can lead no man knows where, not even Mao or Stalin. The nightmare of an Asiatic war, weakening the defence of Europe, and the possibility of a two-front war in Asia and in Europe—the very trap which western diplomacy has tried to escape—would then move nearer to reality.

Something much worse than an open breach with China could occur. An open breach among the western nations, some voting against China in the United Nations and some refusing to cast such a vote, would be the final triumph of Russian diplomacy. At this moment, we may be sure, the Russian hammer is poised to drive that wedge home.

To Help To Work A Miracle

EACH YEAR AT THIS SEASON THE attention of Victorians and other British Columbians is directed to the heart-warming work of the Queen Alexandra Solarium. At the Mill Bay centre children are assisted to overcome the blighting influences of crippling disease.

That is, and will continue to be, the compelling interest of the institution. Any internal differences which may arise, as current difficulties have arisen over administrative matters, will not interfere with the Solarium's purpose. And it must not be forgotten that the treatment and care of the young patients are financed in large measure by public subscription.

The Solarium was opened for small unfortunates on March 1, 1927, and has since continued its effective efforts to save lives, mend broken bodies and make healthy citizens. Any child who could be helped has never been turned away because of the parents' inability to pay.

Victorians know, in general, the story of the Solarium. They appreciate fully the excellent service it provides. In former years they have given generously to help it meet its requirements. Under these circumstances, it seems necessary only to remind our citizens that the annual collection, "The Shower of Dimes," opens at Friday night's hockey game. Contributions may be dropped into the familiar umbrellas, or may be sent to the Solarium Junior League, Box 27, Victoria, B.C.

Here is an opportunity for all our people to "help to work a miracle," as the campaign literature notes. As they make their donations toward that miracle in the life of a child, they are asked only to remember that increasing costs make larger contributions necessary.

The Fair Deal Is Adjourned

PRESIDENT TRUMAN WAS ELECTED

in 1948 as the advocate of a vast expansion of state services which he called the Fair Deal. Even in a Congress nominally controlled by his party he could not get the money for these reforms. The last Congress, in fact, was not controlled by the Fair Deal President but by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats united in their determination to halt the Fair Deal. They succeeded.

Appearing a few days ago before a new Congress still more completely controlled by the conservative coalition, Mr. Truman was obviously aware of his position. As the author of the Fair Deal he could not abandon it, he had to recommend it again but he showed that he expected nothing to come of his recommendation. On the contrary, he demanded drastic economies in all aspects of government except defence and there can be no such economies if the Fair Deal is to be expanded.

Mr. Truman's reform policy thus is one of the first casualties of the world struggle. This does not necessarily mean that his program was unsound or undesirable. It does not mean that his program cannot go ahead at some time in the future. But it cannot go ahead, because it costs huge sums of money, when every extra dollar that the taxpayer can provide will be needed for defence.

The fact which reformers like Mr. Truman have to face is that if America is not made defensible there will be no chance for the Fair Deal or any other reform in the future. As the President clearly estimates in his message to Congress, we have to postpone many hopes today if we are to have the opportunity to make them good tomorrow.

Emphasizing The Urban

AS CIVIC AND MUNICIPAL LEADERS of Greater Victoria extended congratulations to Reeve Sydney Pickles and members of Central Saanich's first council, one point raised by Mayor Percy George had double significance. His worship reminded officers of the new municipality that their district was wholly rural. The corollary is that Saanich's urban sections are being more clearly defined.

As urban and rural are separated in Saanich, the community of interest between the former and Victoria should become more apparent. Heavily populated parts of Saanich close to the city require services analogous to those of Victoria. The natural trend would be to recognize affinities and amalgamate. The outlines of the eventual picture are becoming clearer. A Greater Victoria unity is closer.

Oliver Twist Down Under

A TRIBE OF AUSTRALIAN BUSH-men who have been enjoying the vast benefits of civilization in the form of movies, bus rides and wages have showed that they are apt students of our way of life. They have threatened to go on strike if they don't get more. It seems that the government provides the tribe with buses every Wednesday night to transport as many as wish to go to Darwin to see the local film. It also provides them with meat, bread, jam and tea for their meals, and a job on the roads and airfields at $2 a week. The natives, quick to learn our customs, now demand a bus every night, vegetables and candy with their meals and a wage boost to $7 a week.

In their simple aboriginal way, they have put their fingers right on the vital point of our whole system. In their current campaign they share the stage with hundreds of thousands of human beings all over the world, some of whom would hesitate to acknowledge the tie. The bushmen have availed themselves of the inalienable right to demand more and better returns, but they have also fallen into the trap that claims all who seek advancement. For the big problem is: Where to stop? When they have a bus a day, will they call for two a day? When they have candy, will they demand rum chocolates? When they receive $7 a week will they then hold out for 10 or 14?

The bushmen, whether they know it or not, have walked right into the thick of one of the world's great problems. Even now the wisest among them—the aged greybeards who have not lost their instinctive wisdom in the maelstrom of Darwin's movies, airports and candy emporiums—may have seen the danger, may be yearning for the old days when life in the outback was untrammelled by wages and the overpowering urge to increase them.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

AS YOU are well aware, the Indians of this province are claiming that we owe them a huge sum of money for their land. We owe them (I think the claim says) the present value of the land, not its value when first taken over. But we also owe interest (based on present value) from the date of the first colony. I should like to adjudicate and arbitrate this little controversy. And I am very well fitted to do so, being a third party with no bias. I am neither a white man nor a red one, but a sort of dull green with hideous brown spots.

I do not think the Indians have much to do with the present values and I cannot see my way clear to paying them several billions for land which they gave up (or were forced to give up) a hundred years ago. I am going to award them the value of the land as of a hundred years ago, provided they have not been paid that already . . . some of them have. I am not going to pay them in wampum, as I suggested (in this very column, I think) some time ago. I am going to pay them in skins, all of these skins a hundred years old, including a coonskin coat somebody left in my wife's garage about a hundred years ago or less. I shall also pay in slaves, all a hundred years old next summer.

IT IS going to be hard to arrive at the true value of real estate which changed hands in a place where there wasn't any real estate. The value of B.C. before it had any value was nil. And how you make out a cheque for nil, or even a skin or a slave for nil, is something that beats the bankers. And beating a banker is something you should not lightly attempt, for he is not used to being thwarted and you may damage his psyche. I thwarted a bank clerk once by knowing more about bills of exchange than he did, and he had a stroke, and though he seemed to be sending a message of forgiveness through his rapidly glazing eyes, I can never be sure, and this troubles me.

YOU SEE, the Indians didn't sell land or own land. All they did was walk across land and fight across land. And this fighting brings up another point. Neighboring tribes were always taking stuff away from each other, including the taking of human life. Now supposing for the sake of argument that a tribe did have a legal title to the land on which it camped, did another tribe acquire that title by killing half the first tribe and enslaving the rest? I think not. And if not, the titles are so hopelessly mixed today, we are going to have a tough time finding the tribe which got there first, if that tribe still exists. Again, did the Coast Indians not come across from Asia (or, less probably, from Polynesia) and take B.C. away from the Sasquatches, those eight-foot hairy naked giants who still snoop around between Pitt Lake and Harrison Lake? Who paid the Sasquatches? And if we must pay at all, should we not short-circuit things a little by paying the Sasquatches direct?

ALL THIS talk seemed vaguely familiar to me just now, and then I realized what it was. It reminds me, in part, of Chinese claims to the riches of Hongkong. When Hongkong became British ground, it was a little island of rock with nothing on it, and no man. After a hundred years of British enterprise, British law, and British security, it became a desirable place for a Chinese to seek prosperity, justice and safety. And cordingly, it filled up with Chinese. And then the Chinese in China said we had robbed them of all those buildings and all that money, and that we sat on the rock as a menace to their solvency and pride and everything else, including their pirates at Bias Bay. The two cases are not identical, naturally, but they meet at various points.

IN OTHER WORDS

WHEN I WAS putting a big stack of 1950 Christmas cards away the other night, to be brought out again next November for reference, I noticed how many of them bore pictures of Christmas roses. And what could be more lovely or more appropriate, even if these pictures are now a fad, and even if a fad diminishes all values?

Yet it made me laugh a little, for the Christmas rose is (of course) black hellebore, a nasty poison and a nasty-sounding one, too. It is all very well to go into your garden and pluck one of those delicate white blooms and hand it to a lady with "a Christmas rose to you, my love." She will be touched, and properly so. But if you said "Black hellebore to you this Yuletide, M'am," she'd not like it half so well, though the difference is nothing at all.

INCIDENTALLY, in one of his wonderful books, H. H. Thomas says that the Christmas rose does not like being moved much. Just leave it alone for years at a time, he says, preferably under overhanging boughs and even under ferns. Maybe so. But one year we impetuously bought a house and moved all our garden things into its empty beds, and then we decided we hated that house, which had a curse on it, and we sold it again and moved back into our still unsold original house, and we took the plants with us. And all this in a hot dry August.

After two moves in a month, in that heat, the Christmas roses did far better than ever before. Both moves were made with the help of B.I., which may prove something. But even so . . . well, I think next July or August we'll stir the little rascals up again. Not that we have to buy a house to do it. Just once round the garden, maybe, or a short picnic or something. That should suffice.

Sailor Beware

As Our Readers See It

MOLASSES IN WINTER

The "One Woman's Day" column of Jan. 15 on the subject of molasses and vinegar was very incorrect and ridiculous. The columnist said that she did not have time to read the little pamphlet (there are two pamphlets—one on molasses and one on cider vinegar). Yet she apparently had time to read an article by a doctor, which belittled the value of molasses.

The most absurd error was made in the first paragraph where the writer said, "It seems that a combination of blackstrap molasses and vinegar has a black magic quality." She also referred to "the mixture." The truth is that one or the other may be taken, or both, but not both together.

Later, she said, "I learned from another authoritative source that blackstrap is what is left after the making of rum." The product in question is blackstrap molasses or crude black molasses—not blackstrap. There is a difference. Reference to a good dictionary should clarify this point.

CORONATION STONE

In 1578 Holinshed dedicated to the Earl of Leicester one of Queen Elizabeth's favorites, his "Chronicles," containing the first supposed history of the Stone of Scone, in English. The reason is fairly obvious, but he does not mention that Cambrey in "Monuments Celtiques" reportedly copied the following Latin sentence from "The Stone."

"Ni fallat fatum. Scotti, quocumque locatum invenient lapidem, regnavisse tunc ibidem."

Scott translated these words almost verbatim, but added the word "sacred," and in keeping with the atmosphere of his time, he gave to a simple sentence containing a plain statement regarding the past, a prophetic meaning which had to do with the future.

Sir Walter Scott died on Sept. 21, 1832, so he could not have mistranslated the Irish quatlet quoted by Mr. C. R. Downen, as this gentleman says. It is more probable that Scott's lines were translated into Irish, as "discovered" in 1861 by Glover.

The Coronation Stone is still geologically and perhaps chronologically the same as the stones at the entrance to Dunstaffnage Castle, near Scone. They are not from Tara or Egypt.

NATIONAL BELIEFS

The cartoon in last week's edition by Collins meets my views. When the great founder of this universe saw fit, the nations were divided and certain portions placed for their use and habitation: thus Italy for the Italians, Asia for Asiatics, Mexico for Mexicans, Africa for negroes, and so on.

In time, some of these countries preferred to remain. Others, apart from religious beliefs and ways of living, thought best to join the now established commonwealth.

Even here we have two distinct religions, although fundamentally the same. Try and alter their beliefs.

Personally I have my own religion. Nobody can change my view. Korea is an example. What is there in communism that is sweeping the world? Nobody up to now can give me an explanation.

We want more of the golden rule and practice Christianity which has not yet been tried.

WALTER DANDRIDGE.

IN THE RING

The papers, even on this island, seem to be full of "pros" and "cons" regarding boxing in general. Perhaps this cutting from the London Times of Nov. 27, 1950, might be of interest to your readers:

"Mr. Jack Solomons, the boxing promoter, said on Saturday that he would today invite Dr. Edith Summerskill, Minister of National Insurance, who on Friday described a recent heavyweight title boxing contest as a 'degrading exhibition,' to attend the Sunday nursery which he runs at his West End gymnasium. There she would be able to see youngsters of all ages with the gloves on training and taking part in contests. Mr. Solomons said that many fathers came to watch their sons box, and he was sure that they did not consider the contests were degrading."

"Mrs. E. M. Braddock, M.P., who has accepted the invitation of Mr. Len Harvey, president of the Professional Boxing Association, to become an honorary member of the association, said on Saturday that she believed that the learning of boxing gave the man, or the child, a sportsmanlike outlook. It taught him to give and receive in good sport."

Tito's Value

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

THE problem of Yugoslavia sums up and represents all the immense range of problems, all involving peace, war and national survival, with which the American policy makers are now wrestling.

Here is a small, remote and rather backward country, ruled in a manner intensely distasteful to the American people, by men who not long ago were professed enemies of America. The national leader, Marshal Tito, expects an attack on Yugoslavia in the spring by the Soviet Union and/or its Hungarian, Rumanian and Bulgarian satellites.

The question therefore arises: "What do we do if Tito is right, and Yugoslavia is attacked in the spring?" The surface facts all point one way. There is nothing in the Yugoslav system that Americans feel bound to defend. Yugoslavia is not an ally. Beneath the surface, however, there is a whole new series of arguments, even more weighty, pointing in the opposite direction.

First, the most important military force on the other side of the Atlantic today is the concentration at the eastern end of the Mediterranean, comprising the 30 Yugoslav divisions, the Turkish army of nearly 30 divisions, and the re-vivified army of Greece.

If the Yugoslav divisions are destroyed, the fate of Greece will be sealed; and Turkey, even if not invaded, will be wholly neutralized by the simple facts of geography.

Second, the Middle East is already a mush, politically and militarily. Particularly in Iran, the situation has deteriorated alarmingly in recent months. The capture of the Yugoslav position and the consequent neutralization of Turkey will expose the whole of the Middle East to the full force of Soviet pressure.

In short, all this vital area, with its immense strategic importance and its oil resources on which the economy of the whole Western alliance so directly depends, will soon be involved in Yugoslavia's fate.

Third, even these immediately foreseeable consequences of the conquest of Yugoslavia will vastly reduce the usefulness of our most important strategic bases—the advanced bases in Cyrenaica, Cyprus, and elsewhere in the eastern Mediterranean, from which the more remote Soviet targets beyond the Urals must be struck.

Fourth, it is also very probable that a Soviet triumph in Yugoslavia will have explosive political effects in France and Italy. Meanwhile, the German problem will become utterly unmanageable, and the Western alliance will be fatally and finally ruptured.

It is hardly necessary to pursue any further the course of this fearful chain reaction, which we must anticipate if Yugoslavia is overrun and crushed without protest from the Western allies. The foregoing summary is not a private nightmare. This is a compressed statement of the best judgment of the men most qualified to form an opinion.

In other words, the Western alliance would be so hopelessly shattered, and so many vital strategic positions would be lost to us and gained by the Kremlin, that our own position would become irretrievable. And this is the right background against which the question must again be asked: "What do we do if Yugoslavia is attacked this spring?"

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where a dentist in Dallas, Texas, has been making some experiments with his patients. He reports that truth serum, the drug that when injected in the veins makes you blurt out what you really think, is better than laughing gas for people with a tooth to be pulled. That may bring on a rash of jokes about it being 'like pulling a tooth to get the truth out of Joe Jenks,' and so on. But what was particularly noticeable was the dentist's remark that the truth serum 'leaves patients in rather a carefree state of mind.' The doc is right in the groove on that one. There's nothing like truthfulness to give you a carefree mind. But it's typical of the age that some of us have to be drugged to achieve it. Going down!"

"Of all the virtues," said the Elevator Man, "truthfulness seems to be getting the toughest ride these days. It's being twisted until it's hard to recognize the original shape. We're told from various sources that dictatorship is really democracy, that the use of hundreds of thousands of troops isn't an army at war but just a few volunteers helping a few patriots, that the only purpose of the biggest army in the world is peace, and so on. In some parts of the world if you don't believe such things you'll be jailed. That proves they're true—or something. Lower main!"

"It's not hard," said the Elevator Man, "to tell the real truth from the fake truth. But even genuine truth can be embarrassing, and it might be kinder to hide our real feelings sometimes. I'm thinking of that story of the suburban home that had a placard in its front window: 'Saxophone for sale.' The house next door had a card, too, with just one word: 'Hurrah.'"

The Challenge Of The Mountain

Winnipeg Free Press

FOR centuries men of adventurous turn have sensed the challenge of mountain peaks and the years of our modern era have been rich with climbing epics. It is interesting to note that this human urge to iackie and conquer snow-swept ramparts has not been completely blacked out even by the world struggle with communism.

The planning of expeditions has, however, become more difficult by virtue of the fact that mountain chains tend to coincide with political frontiers, with the result that climbing activities frequently give rise to real or alleged apprehensions and far-fetched fantasies.

The latest attempt on Everest by a group of United States climbers and a British veteran appears, fortunately, to have escaped diplomatic attention. It was an unusual expedition in that, for the first time, an approach was made from the Nepalese side. Aside from primitive villagers, no group had previously ventured within 70 miles of the mountain front, though it has now been ascertained that this route is both easier and quicker than that attempted by previous climbers.

From the observations made by the 1950 party, it seems likely, however, that Everest will remain unconquered for some time. For, while the approach is easy enough, careful reconnaissance on various ridges to a height of 19,000 feet led to the conclusion that the precipitous southern face probably presents insuperable difficulties.

But it is not to be doubted that the challenge of the mountain will continue to stir men's minds and in the end evoke a response adequate to surmount the still-unyielding obstacles of its icy summit.

New Labor Officers May Be Challenged

Machinists' Delegate Harold Thayer Charges Victoria Election Illegal

Delegates to the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.-A.F.L.) went through the motions Wednesday night of electing a new slate of officers for the year.

When it was over, however, no one was quite sure whether the officers would serve until the year's end or whether, in fact, there were any officers at all.

The unusual and unorthodox situation developed toward the end of the meeting when all but one executive post had been filled.

Storm Not So Hard On Ship

The slight hull damage suffered by the British freighter Bedford Prince Monday night when she was pounded against the cement pier by gale-driven waves really was not so much for the Vancouver-built ship.

Capt. E. C. Brown today told how the vessel "all but had her middle blown out" when she was torpedoed by a German E-boat off the south coast of England in August, 1944.

The vessel stayed afloat, and it's a remarkable coincidence that Capt. Brown, who was then working for the Admiralty Salvage Service, was the man who boarded the partially-flooded ship and ruled that she should be towed to the Thames and salvaged.

She was beached with her decks awash and about two years later was towed to Tyneside in the same condition and reconditioned.

Capt. Brown, 34, has held his master's ticket since he was 23.

IRISH SNIFF PEAT AGAIN

DUBLIN (Reuter)—The sweet-scented aroma of peat fires soon will hover again over Irish communities for the first time since the war. Peat will replace coal as fuel because coal shipments from Britain have dropped. This year the Republic of Ireland plans to dig 4,000,000 tons of peat, an increase of 1,000,000 tons over last year.

THE HOME GARDEN

Care Of Tools Pays Off In Longer Wear

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Even a near hurricane has its compensations.

The greenhouse didn't blow over, although the metal chimney extension came down and landed on the corner of a cold frame. But not a single light of glass was cracked in greenhouse or frame.

The greatest Jack inconvenience was lack of telephone service for three days.

The weather has been so nice up to this week that outside work has continued later than usual, and neglected inside jobs have been piling up.

Home gardeners often neglect to clean and paint their tools. But it should be done. It makes them last longer, not only from the point of preservation of the material, but because there are fewer losses from misplacement.

After trying many colors, I have settled for a bright yellow enamel. It stands out clearly when collecting the tools in the summer twilight, and the smaller implements can be easily seen when dropped amongst tall vegetation.

Everything should be scrubbed with a brush and warm water to remove mud and grease and, after drying, well rubbed with sandpaper. Cutting tools (secateurs, grass shears) should be taken apart, cleaned and sharpened. Shovel and hoe blades should be sharpened and polished.

New Immigration Plan Draws Protest

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night voted unanimously to protest against the new system of immigration planned by the Canadian government.

Objection to the plan stemmed from belief that the scheme to provide prospective citizens with loans to come to this country on the understanding the loans will be repaid in two years, will work a hardship on the new arrivals.

TREASURE DUG IN BIG HOTEL

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Someone has been digging for buried treasure in the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Silver dollars, imbedded in the cement floor of the old Ionian room, have been disappearing at the rate of two or three a day.

The treasure hunters' take now is up to $10. The hotel asked police to halt the prospecting.

Some may think this a lot of unnecessary work, but I know the amount of labor saved by using clean, sharp tools, and the amount of time wasted when looking for a displaced article.

New Municipality Starts Business Without Delay

Names Officials, Plans By-law By Tuesday To Raise Operating Funds

Central Saanich Municipal Council started to work in earnest Wednesday night with the appointment of municipal officials, consideration of by-laws, and future plans for police and fire protection.

Acting municipal clerk, treasurer, assessor and collector is Mrs. Kathleen A. Warren, who was employed for some time by Saanich; Lloyd McKenzie, temporary legal adviser. Thomas Michell was named acting public works superintendent, Carl Breitenbach assistant. They will hire a truck and begin work on roads immediately.

The R.C.M.P. will be interviewed on a police contract. Reeve Pickles will negotiate with Saanich regarding fire protection and building trades inspections.

It is hoped to pass a by-law by Tuesday and arrange for a loan Wednesday to cover current operating costs.

Permission will be asked to use the Saanich Pioneers' Society log cabin as a temporary municipal hall.

Councillor Ray Lamont was appointed acting reeve; Ian Ross, C.A., offered his services as adviser on accounting problems.

The council unanimously endorsed a resolution that the municipality approach the Minister of Public Works regarding continuance of the Mill Bay-Brentwood ferry service.

A scheduled course in descriptive astronomy, one of the Victoria College evening lecture series, has been canceled because of insufficient registration, according to Prof. R. T. Wallace, director of non-credit evening lectures.

OAK BAY GETS $800,000 MORE FROM LAND, IMPROVEMENT TAXES

Oak Bay will receive $798,160 more from land and improvement taxes in 1951 than in 1950.

This was indicated to the municipal council Wednesday by R. F. Blandy, assessor.

Land taxes will pour $3,491,140 into the municipal coffers, $49,620 more than last year. Revenue from improvements will approximate $13,956,680, an increase of $748,540. Figures may be changed by a court of revision.

Expert Appraiser Sought On Assets Of Central Saanich

Reeve Sydney Pickles of Central Saanich will interview the Minister of Municipalities as soon as possible to learn whether the apportionment board dividing the assets and liabilities of Saanich and Central Saanich has the power of appraisal.

The ration of apportionment has been set at 11.5 per cent of the asset value for Central Saanich, and 88.5 per cent for Saanich, he said.

Appraising values should be left to an independent firm of expert appraisers and a report of the values appraised received from this source.

Strong exception was taken by Councillor Lorne Thomson, Central Saanich representative on the board, who said that such a move would mean that "we have been wasting our time for the last two months."

"It's a vote of censure to the sitting committee," he said. "Please don't think we can pick out the plums and leave Saanich what is left. A little litigation would wipe out any advantage we might get through an independent appraisal, and I don't want an enemy on our south border."

Oak Bay Reconsidering Panhandle Referendum

Oak Bay will consider putting another referendum to its ratepayers on the proposed joining of the Gordon Head-Cadboro Bay and Panhandle areas with the municipality.

The municipal council voted Wednesday night to reconsider the entire matter once the immediate problems of getting estimates out and striking the mill rate for 1951 had been set.

The move came following receipt of a letter from N. Cowper-Bell, chairman of the Gordon Head Ratepayers' Association, which requested another expression of opinion from Oak Bay taxpayers.

At the polls on Dec. 14 the three-fifths majority required for passage was not obtained.

The action of Oak Bay Council was almost a reversal on its stand two weeks ago when a letter from George Gregory, an Oak Bay resident, with a similar request, got a chilly reception. At that time, it was indicated the council was not in favor of reopening the matter.

"I notice many of our own residents feel we should do something more. We should give it some further consideration, but not until after we have struck our mill rate," said Reeve P. A. Gibbs.

Mr. Cowper-Bell's letter was tabled until that time.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

As if there was anything else; this is about Tuesday night's hockey game at the Memorial Arena, a three-act drama entitled "Maelstrom Murph."

Canuck coach Murph Chamberlain, as the title signifies, draws the lead role. Coley Hall, once a great dramatist, but now a tragedian, is the stand-in. Other members of the supporting cast include the players of both teams, an undetermined number of fans, of whom more will be said later, referee Dick Davis, linesman Bert Nelson and about a score of bluecoats, including Chief of Police John Blackstock.

League president Al Leader was in the wings in his official capacity as "critic."

Act I: Both teams play hockey and it's well appreciated as the Cougars perform better than the rival Canucks. Applause follows applause as the Cougars take a 4 to 1 lead halfway through third period. The Cougars "Kid-Line" is taking the bows while George Defelice, who attempts to portray the part of "the villain," takes the bumps, and he gets his lumps from Roger Leger. More applause.

Well-Aimed Cue For Murph

Act II: Rival fans in the section above the Vancouver players' box stop hurling uncomplimentary epithets which are making Mr. Chamberlain and his hirelings boil, and commence throwing solid matter. This appears to make Mr. Chamberlain very unhappy.

Meanwhile the ice chorus is still performing a stick-swinging and butt-ending drill with referee Davis cracking a feeble whip.

Through all this Mr. Leader says nothing.

Act III: "Maelstrom Murph" gets his cue. He gets it in the back of the neck through the medium of a missile hurled with deadly accuracy and with the intent of occasioning Mr. Chamberlain actual bodily harm (which is not included in the price of admission as some fans seem to think).

Murph goes into action. He climbs the rail separating him from the crowd and like a monkey going up a wire fence claws his way towards his tormentor—the east-side hero of the moment.

Enter the other fans who flock from far and near. Enter the bluecoats. Enter Mr. Nelson. Enter Mr. Hall. Enter the players. (And enter the news photographer.)

Little Corporal In The Act

Mr. Chamberlain is repelled but not before a struggle. Mr. Hall is also repelled but not before a struggle. The bluecoats help in the repelling. The fans pelt both Mr. Hall and Mr. Chamberlain with vindictives. The cameraman is upended but not before he does his duty. (See pix in Times of Wednesday by Halkett.) Mr. Nelson doesn't get far enough to be repelled.

Through all this Mr. Leader says nothing.

The game starts anew. Mr. Chamberlain is hiding behind two bluecoats. Mr. Hall is holding forth in the Canuck box. Mr. Davis is annoyed and shows his annoyance by penalizing four players for fighting, of all things (the fight wasn't in the original script).

Meanwhile Mr. Cotnoir, who plays goal for the Cougars, is also annoyed. He has been slammed into goalpost and butt-ended. Naturally he is annoyed. Mr. Cotnoir trips Mr. Unger who has no place in the play except he happened to be nearest Mr. Cotnoir when Mr. Cotnoir sought retribution.

The game ends but Mr. Highton and Mr. Frampton haven't read their lines yet. They do, briefly, and to the point. The play is over.

Still Mr. Leader says nothing.

One-Night Stand, We Hope

Encore: Mr. Leader goes to the referees' dressing-room. Mr. Leader goes to the Canucks' dressing-room. Mr. Leader talks with both Mr. Davis and Mr. Chamberlain. Mr. Hall talks to Mr. Leader. Mr. Patrick tries to talk to Mr. Leader. Mr. Hall escorts Mr. Chamberlain from the rink.

Everyone concerned agrees fans in the section above Vancouver players box are bigoted, fatuous, asinine. A Vancouver sports writer says: "How stupid can a hockey crowd become?" The fans think Mr. Davis was lacking in his duties on the ice. The bluecoats don't even know the score. Mr. Blackstock keeps calm in spite of it all, and Mr. Nelson, his duties completed, quips: "Gee, you sure earn your money in this league."

Still, Mr. Leader, the critic, says nothing.

He will though, and his report will be read with interest. But it won't contain anything about the Cougars, who, when they stick to hockey, can beat anybody in the league. And no matter what Mr. Leader says about our fans or about Mr. Chamberlain or Mr. Hall, the Cougars still rate the lead paragraph. The drama, "Maelstrom Murph," was only a one-night stand, we hope.

VICS GET ROUGH AGAINST SERVANTS

Edge Commercial League Squad; All-Stars Coast To Easy Victory Over Sailor, Squad

The Junior Hockey League Victoria Vics whipped Commercial League's Civil Service by a 4 to 3 score last night, but didn't win any new friends in doing it.

The scrap-happy Vics seemed to forget entirely that they were just playing an exhibition game and that the G-Men were being good enough to give them a contest. Servants took it easy on the juniors in the early stages of the bout but in the second and third periods they were hard-pressed to defend themselves from the unprovoked attacks of the Vics.

Of the 11 penalties, seven were minors, three were five-minute infractions and one was a match misconduct called when hot-tempered Dick Rose of the Vics dumped Ray Ball and then while Ball was flat on the ice, creased him across the skull with his stick. Rose was banished and his infraction, which was reported to league headquarters, may cost him a long suspension.

EARL YLEAD

The Civils jumped into an early lead when Derek McCooley missed the first three shots fired at him. However, from that point on, McCooley was unbeatable. Two fast goals put the Vics within striking distance and captain Bill Robinson tied the game up late in the second period after the Vics had missed several good chances. At the 12-minute mark, Archie Court-nall made a breakaway for Vics and fired a perfect pass to Art Green who came in like a bullet to plant the winning goal behind goalie Dave Friesen.

NAVY SWAMPED

The second game of the double-header saw the newly formed Commercial League All Stars hand a 9 to 1 lacing to the Navy All Stars. With the first string line of Connie McBeth, Ken Gunter and Bill Jensen alternated by Ron Bremner, scoring almost at will, the sailors did not have a chance. The teams switched netminders, Norm Jones playing goal for Navy and Keith Blenk-iron working for the All Stars.

The move paid off handsomely for the All Stars as Blenkiron played probably the finest game of his career. Jones, for his part, was tremendous in the early stages but could not cope with the three, four and even five-man breakaways of the Stars. Jones stopped 22 shots in the last period alone.

In the last three or four minutes of the game, Stars pulled Blenkiron out and used six forwards. They kept the puck in Navy territory all this time and scored three goals to boot.

Eclectic Contest Winners Named

A net 58 brought silver division honors to Mrs. G. E. Harris in the recently-completed women's semi-annual eclectic competition at Victoria Golf Club. The bronze division was headed by Mrs. A. W. Hunt, with a net 63.

Mrs. S. R. Weston, with 62½, and Mrs. H. Paterson, with 63½, were runners-up in the silver class.

In second place in the bronze division was Miss E. H. Bleakney with 66. Mrs. D. R. McCall and Miss Marjorie Prior tied for third place with 66½.

REGINA (BUP)—The Calgary Stampeders had a precarious hold on first place in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League today after beating the tail-end Regina Caps 7 to 4.

The victory last night gave the Stampeders a one-point lead over the Edmonton Flyers and clinched a drive that had knocked down a 14-point lead held by the Flyers only a few weeks ago.

The Stampeders trailed 3 to 2 at the end of the first period, but climbed into a 6-to-4 lead in the second and added another goal in the third.

Other Bribe Attempts In Sport Recalled By Present Hoop 'Fix'

NEW YORK (AP)—The current basketball "fix" scandal is the fifth in that pastime since 1945, but the itchy fingers of gamblers have been active in other sports.

During the last decade similar scandals have rocked football, baseball, hockey and boxing.

Two members of last year's Manhattan College basketball team and three other men were arrested Wednesday on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

Edward F. Breslin, assistant District Attorney, said Henry E. Poppe and John Byrnes, co-captains of the team, "dumped several games and each received a total of $5,000."

He said the arrests were made after an attempt to fix the Manhattan-DePaul game Tuesday night, won by Manhattan 62 to 59 in an upset at Madison Square Garden.

In late 1946, Frank Filchick and Merle Hapes of the New York Giants pro football team reported they were offered cash by Alvin J. Paris to fix the Giants-Chicago Bears' playoff game for the National League title.

Filchick and Hapes were suspended indefinitely by the league for conduct detrimental to football. Paris went to prison.

ACCEPTED IN CANADA

Filchick went to Canada next season and received the green light to play with Hamilton Tigers of the Big Four. In his second season he coached and quarterbacked Hamilton to the Ontario Rugby Football Union title.

He moved to Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four in 1949. Flaming' Frankie was voted Canada's outstanding athlete of 1949 for his brilliant work with the Alouettes. Hapes was playing-coach for Hamilton in 1949.

STILL OUT

Hockey's gambling ruckus came in March, 1948. The National Hockey League expelled Billy Taylor, a New York Ranger, and suspended Don Gallinger of Boston Bruins.

Taylor and Gallinger never have been restored to good standing.

Rocky Graziano was involved in boxing's big scandal in the winter of 1947. District Attorney Frank Hogan said the former middleweight champion admitted he was offered a $100,000 bribe to lose to Reuben Shank in a fight that was postponed and never held.

Baseball has had a couple of minor smudges since the Black Sox scandal of 1919.

Five players were suspended in the Evangeline League (class D) in Louisiana during the war years when they were reported to be linked with bookies. In October, 1948, four men were indicted on bribery and conspiracy charges in connection with an alleged attempt to fix a Carolina League baseball game. A manager and a club official were suspended from baseball for life.

Look Out! Here Comes Welles, That Man From Mars, Again

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Exclusively yours: Hollywoodites returning from Europe say that Orson Welles' next independent picture will be a celluloid version of his famous "Man from Mars" radio broadcast. . . . Bob Taylor's reason for ducking movietown parties is medical advice to take it easy for the next two months. . . . The hoped-for reconciliation between Richard Greene and Pat Medina has faded and friends are predicting an early divorce. . . . It's final now—Ava Gardner's own singing voice will be used on the soundtrack for "Show Boat." Ava's turning cartwheels over the good news. The Gardner tones, I can tell you, are sweet, throaty and ear-soothing.

One more story about Shelley Winters' temperament as John Garfield's co-star in "He Ran All the Way," and exhibitors will have to marquee the picture: "She Ranted All the Way."

TI-COQ SCORES

Canadian's Play Earns U.S. Cheers

By BERNARD GAVZER

CHICAGO (AP)—"Ti-Coq," an often-bright piece of theatrical confection, had its U.S. premiere Wednesday night at the Harris Theatre, and first-nighters gave the Canadian cast a lusty welcome with a special accolade for Gratien Gelinas (Fridolin), its star, author, producer and director.

Presented in its English version, "Ti-Coq"—that is, the "Li'l Roster"—tells the tale of a founding who finds and loses the love he has sought through his life.

This may not register as a particularly engrossing problem in some sophisticated circle, but as presented here the pathos, simplicity and directness of the tale safeguard the play from any threat of awkwardness or fawning sentimentality.

Since the Canadian cast has been playing "Ti-Coq," a record-breaking time in its original French, the switch to English poses some unique problems. The attempt to employ the American idiom frequently fails. It also appears that the word "hell" has some multi-purpose function that is not wholly understood by the actors—as though they had been told Americans use it as the extreme in profanity as well as in the most innocent of expressions. But this is a minor distraction in an otherwise beguiling production. Whatever its shortcomings as an outstanding play, "Ti-Coq" deserves the popularity it won in Canada solely for its unpretentiousness and candor.

Last week it played before sell-out houses in Toronto before coming to Chicago. It is scheduled to open on Broadway next month.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Bob Crosby Hurries To Make Hay With Television Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Crosby is getting into television in a big way and figures he'd better hurry. He reasons: "I've got a few years of grace because Bing's too busy and Gary's too young."

After a flurry of TV appearances in the east, Bob has made a couple of TV films as a test for his present radio sponsor. Bob kiddingly suggests he has to get into the medium while he's the only Crosby in it.

Does he think being Bing's brother has hurt his career? "I don't think so," he replied. "If I were the brother of someone who was just a star in show business it might make a difference. But Bing is more than a star; he's an institution. Because he is so supreme in his field, there's room for another Crosby."

The two brothers have always been close, Bob remarked. Bing was the youngest boy in the family until Bob came along, and he was happy to abdicate the position.

Although he has made many appearances with Bing, Bob has kept most of his activities apart from the groaner and his business brothers, Everett and Larry. "When I first started out, I divorced myself from the rest of the family operation," he said. "I didn't even mention Bing. But then people got mad at me, figuring I had had a fight with Bing. So I decided not to hide the fact we were brothers."

Bob now is playing a TV star in "Two Tickets to Broadway," and that's how he was discovered for the role—on an eastern TV show. Producer Jerry Wald has high hopes for his movie future and calls him "The Neglected Crosby."

BBC Advised To Retain Monopoly

LONDON (Reuter)—A 12-man government-appointed committee today turned down proposals for commercial broadcasting in Britain and recommended that the BBC should keep its monopoly for radio and television programs in British homes.

But the committee suggested that commercial organizations should be allowed to produce their own television service for showing in movie theatres.

Early English Composer Purcell Accorded Fine Treatment By Group Of City Artists

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON

The 17th century English composer, Henry Purcell, as Graham Steed revealed him to a Musical Art Society audience Wednesday night, was a man of rich and powerful musical ideas who has been undeservedly neglected in the two-and-a-half centuries since his death.

The lecture-recital took place in the Memorial Hall. Assisting Mr. Steed were Winona Denyes, mezzo-soprano; Hazel Sherratt, soprano; the Christ Church Cathedral Choir, and an instrumental trio from the Dorothy Francis Studios.

Mr. Steed, with a lively wit and zest for his subject, described the background of Purcell's short life, linking it with the history of the Chapel Royal which he described as "an idea rather than a place."

The well-placed, purely musical voice of Miss Denyes was heard in three groups of songs from Purcell's various operas and semi-operas. All had been well chosen and were worthy a closer acquaintance.

Incidentally, Mr. Steed, who is so excellent an organist and choral accompanist, somewhat overpowered the soloist on this occasion.

"The Blessed Virgin's Expostulation" is a lengthy and devoutly beautiful composition, but Mrs. Sherratt's powerful soprano dealt easily and well with it. Violinists Jacqueline Johnstone and Anne Robertson, with Beverly Bugslag at the piano, played the Golden Sonata, performing in a competent and scholarly style.

Mrs. F. Plouffe, Point St. Charles, Montreal, Quebec, is 60 years of age and had suffered with rheumatic pain in the knees and sharp pain in the small of the back. After Mrs. Plouffe had used just one bottle of SARNAK she wrote: "I was in such pain I could hardly do my work and had trouble getting my proper rest. The first bottle of SARNAK relieved my pain, allowed me to do my housework and sleep undisturbed. After suffering for so many years, I don't know how to thank you for what SARNAK has done for me."

Mrs. C. E. Lyons, Burdett, Alberta, is now 74 years of age and has enjoyed good health, but a few months ago Mrs. Lyons started to suffer from rheumatic and arthritic pain in her knees and legs. Mrs. Lyons tried several things but nothing helped. Here is what she wrote after taking SARNAK: "After taking SARNAK for two months I am free of stabbing arthritic pain. Right from the first two or three doses SARNAK helped me. Now, of course, I wouldn't be without it."

Mr. Stanley P. Dexter, Deep Cove, B.C., is a retired locomotive engineer and 64 years of age. Mr. Dexter had suffered from arthritic pain in both knees and his left hip for seven years until he started to take SARNAK, but here's what Mr. Dexter says: "I tried many different kinds of medicine to relieve my pain but nothing helped until I started taking SARNAK. I got relief from the first day with SARNAK and continued taking it because of the good it did me. I feel the least I can do is let you know these facts."

Out in our yard crouches this brute, strong . . . ferocious . . . & resolute. For 2 weeks now, it's been glaring at us, it's made me mad . . . it's made me cuss. Every time out the window, I take a look-see, this 20-foot brute is mocking me, I've beat my brains to think of a way, I've had round its neck, a tourniquet. Three times now, I've grabbed its tail, & strained to lift this backyard whale. Each time I've made a new attack, I've shot my back would surely crack. Once, half-way up I got this thing, then a 2 by 4 I did under-sling. I balanced it there, sorta spellbound, my tormentor twisted & fell to the ground. I gave it a kick, & hurt my toe, the rain came down in a fluffy flow. To fill up the hole that I had dug, where I had intended burying this thing. If you intend new things for your house, we are now dealers in "Westinghouse." See the "Miracle" oven on their beautiful range, tailored terms - we easily arrange. I sat down, & really saw red, the G.F. rapped, & shook her head. I knew she was saying, while the rain I flicked better come in, that thing has you licked. I went round to the garage, quickly came back, under this monster I placed the car-jack. I got down in the muck, soaked my left knee, in all Oak Bay, no one madder than me. The earth was too soft by the garden bed, "she" tapped again, & shook her head. Then just to gain more self-control, I picked up my shovel, sank down in the hole. I shovelled the way, then bailed with a can, but there too I was licked, I'd struck the hardpan. You'll strike it lucky, if I want some chrome, we allow 10 bucks for that wreck in your home. On any new suite we have on our floor, & believe me . . . we have 'em galore. Out of my ditch a soaking wreck, to get a strangle-hold on my enemy's neck. He braced himself, like he'd done before, & knocked me flat on my 2 by 4. I lay there a moment, feeling the pain, while up my nose trickled more rain. Again the thing twisted, slid off a rock, I thot any moment 'twas gonna sock. Away I crawled outa its reach, thru the window I heard the G.F. screech. She was waving her arms, beckoning me in. I swiped more mud across my chin. I looked at the brute as I went in, while I shouted out loud . . . "YOU WIN . . . YOU WIN."

Then I hollered louder, made an awful din. "Go U hear me," I repeated, "YOU win . . . YOU win. Can't you SAY something, you ignorant dead-pan, you MAKE ME SICK," then I ran. "Take off your clothes, you're soaking wet, the coffee's all ready," sed she, full of fret. "Don't U think," she sed, as I glared thru the pane, "you should call it quits, stav outa the rain?" 'Cause, I really don't need, that clothes-pole so high, besides in the basement, they more quicklv dry." So there lies my moment, the sunn' cur, that 6 by 6, great hunk of fir. And there it can stav, and d . . . well rot, beside its yawning open slot. Unless, of course, some reader knows, & I'll try again . . . for the sake of "Her" clothes.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

If you ask an expert for his favorite bridge hand, he won't come up with some weird, complicated squeeze nor with the time he held an eleven-card suit. The chances are that he'll glow at the memory of the time that some expert opponent made a good play which called for an even better play to offset it.

In today's hand Sam Stayman played the South cards. When the dummy came down, he expected no trouble. He was willing to lose two hearts and a trump. There was nothing to the hand, or so it seemed.

Then East, a villain by the name of Jacoby, complicated matters by winning the first trick with the king of hearts and returning the singleton jack of diamonds. Suddenly the picture had changed; for this defence threatened to defeat the contract.

If Stayman proceeded to lead trumps, as originally planned, I would take the ace of trumps and lead a low heart to West's jack. (I couldn't be sure West actually had the jack of hearts, but I would take that risk, as Stayman knew perfectly well.) Then West would lead a diamond, and I would ruff, thus setting the contract.

What could Stayman do about this? Sam thought about it for a moment and then came up with a neat answer. He won the diamond return with the king and crossed me up by not leading trumps. Instead he led the jack of clubs and then continued with two more top clubs.

Naturally, I ruffed the third high club, and Stayman carefully discarded his remaining small heart.

Sam hadn't given me anything except the heart trick that I could have taken for myself earlier in the play. What he had robbed me of was my way of reaching the West hand. For now declarer was ready to ruff a heart return, and I could never get my partner in to give me the vital diamond ruff.

As a matter of fact, even though I came out second best on this hand, it's one of my own favorites, too.

CARD Sense

Q—Your partner deals and bids one diamond, and you bid one heart with Spade J-6-5-3. Heart K-J-7-5-4. Diamond 8-7-2. Club 4. Now your partner bids one spade (the opponents passing at each turn). What should you do?

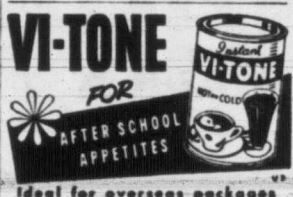

A—Bid two spades. Your partner's one-over-one is not absolutely forcing, but it asks you to bid if you can find any excuse. Four supporting spades and a singleton club are a good enough excuse.

TODAY'S QUESTION

With both sides vulnerable, the player at your right deals and bids one spade. You hold Spade 10-3-2, Hearts A-Q-7-5-4, Diamond A-9-3, Club 8-2. What do you do?

Answer tomorrow.

Britain's Fox Hunting Chiefs Defend Princess

LONDON (AP)—Britain's top fox hunters lined up today to defend Princess Margaret's attendance at a fox hunt.

Says Suffering Woman Was Refused Milk

City Council should provide its welfare committee with more money to help meet humanitarian needs instead of spending money in less-useful pursuits, Harold Thayer told the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night.

He said he knew of a case where an aged woman, ill and in need, had been refused a pint of milk a day. He contrasted this with payment of $250 to help pay off the celebrations' association debt.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The city finance committee has endorsed a Chamber of Commerce resolution which stressed the desirability of Manitoba firms receiving government defence contracts.

"Those who make the most uproar against hunting with hounds are those who know the least about it," James Fitzwilliams, secretary of the Masters of the Fox Hounds Association, said.

The Princess had been rebuked by the executive committee of the League Against Cruel Sports because she "followed a hunt of the Pychley Foxhounds Jan. 6 in a motor vehicle." The committee said the sport "is regarded by quite half the people of Britain with absolute loathing and abhorrence by reason of its inherent cruelty to the unfortunate animal involved."

Fitzwilliams described the L.A.C.S. as a "tiny organization speaking only for an insignificant minority."

Burgess Bedtime Story

Speed is good, but sometimes it's better far in place of it.
—Old Mother Nature.

For the second time that day there was a mad chase through the green forest. It was a chase to see. Strangely enough the one who was chasing in the first chase was the one being chased in the second chase. The first time Chatterer the Red Squirrel had been running for his life with Spite, the Marten, after him. Chatterer can travel fast through the treetops, but Spite can travel faster. That was an exciting race to watch because it was high up through the treetops. It was just Chatterer's good luck that enabled him to reach his home in a big oak tree just in time. His doorway was too small for Spite to put his head through. Now Spite himself was learning how Chatterer had felt. Spite was running through the treetops for his life.

Chasing after Spite was his bigger cousin, Pekkan the Fisher. Pekkan has another name. Some folks call him the Black Cat. This is silly because he isn't a cat. He isn't even related to the Cat family. But then it is just as silly to call him a fisher. He likes fish if somebody else catches it. He is no fisher himself because he doesn't like to get his feet wet. Pekkan would eat his own cousin if he got the chance. Just now he hoped the chance had come. He is just as much at home in the trees as Cousin Spite. So where Spite went Pekkan followed.

Lightfoot the Deer happened along just in time to see that chase. Such racing along the branches! Such wild jumps! When another tree could not be reached by jumping, Spite raced down the trunk of the tree he was in and then across the snow to another tree and up that. Behind him Pekkan the Fisher did the same thing. Despite all that Spite could do Pekkan was gaining a little all the time. Sometimes Spite didn't take time to run all the way to the bottom of the tree. He would jump when he was only half way down. Of course, Pekkan would do the same thing. Spite was fast getting to the same feeling of hopelessness that Chatterer had had. I suspect that if Chatterer had seen that race, and how desperately hard brown-coated Spite was trying to get away, he would have said, "It serves him right. Yes, sir, it serves him right. Yes, sir, it serves him right."

He raced pell-mell at Prickly Porky serves him right. He knows now how he makes others feel." Spite was running a losing race. Had he been up on the great mountain where he lived he would have known the nearest place of safety. Being down in the green forest at the foot of the great mountain he was a stranger, and he didn't know any of the safe places for one of his size. As he ran he had to watch to try to see some place he could dart into where Pekkan couldn't follow. But it is hard to look around and run at the same time. He didn't see a single hiding place. He was beginning to despair. Yes, sir, he was beginning to despair. And then he happened to look off to one side and there shuffling along on the snow-covered ground was one of the family of Prickly Porky the Porcupine.

QUICK WIT

Now Spite has a quick wit. Like many of those who hunt and are hunted he has to have a quick wit. He made a flying leap to the ground. He raced pell-mell at Prickly Porky. All the thousand little spears that the young porcupine carried hid den in his coat suddenly sprang into view. Everyone in the green forest knows about those little spears and everyone keeps away from them if possible. Spite leaped over the prickly fellow and climbed the tree just back of him. He had remembered something that he had once heard. It was that Pekkan the Fisher was the one person in all the green forest who seemed to have no fear of a porcupine's quills, as the little spears are called. So when he is very hungry he is glad to get a porcupine dinner. Spite hoped he was very hungry now.

'Prospect Is Grim' Speaker Says Of Russian Threat

"The struggle with Communism will be a fight to the finish. The difference between winning and losing will be the difference between life and death."

So said Sir Louis Beale, retired member of the British Commercial Diplomatic Service, in a blunt, provocative address Wednesday to members of the Men's Canadian Club.

The current threat of Communism, Sir Louis listed as one of five main factors to be considered in viewing the state of the present-day world. Other factors related to this point.

They were: The shift in free-world leadership from Britain to the United States; revolt in Asia; new weapons of war (atom bombs and germ warfare); and the United Nations.

"The Soviet makes no secret of the fact it is striving for world domination," Sir Louis observed. "That is the threat."

The speaker lamented that Russia in recent years had been successful in spreading Communism over one-third of the world's population without having to shed one drop of Russian blood.

Russia's most recent conquest of China's 450,000,000 was described as the greatest tragedy. The speaker, moreover, held the free nations of the world partly responsible.

"The millions in Asia should be our friends," he declared. He said the dream of the great mass of Chinese was a simple one—"just food to eat, a little piece of land and justice."

LIKE COMING HOME was visit of Sir Louis Beale here to address Canadian Clubs, but after years in British commercial diplomatic service, he says home is where he hangs his hat. He lived here from 1913 to 1918 before he entered U.K. government service.

Sir Louis said the Communist promise to the Chinese of taking the land for the people could not help but be popular. He reckoned also that empty stomachs guided the people.

"Russia took the initiative," he summed up, "so we are on the defensive."

"The tide of human affairs is at the flood. The position of the west is weak; the position of the Reds is strong."

"The prospect is grim."

WOULD-BE IMMIGRANTS LINING UP FOR BID TO ENTER CANADA

By E. S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—Prospective emigrants in the United Kingdom and Western Europe are beginning to queue up in their bid for a chance to settle in Canada.

The rush of applicants, Canadian authorities reported Wednesday, has been growing steadily since the fall of last year with the acceleration particularly pronounced within recent weeks.

C. C. Wallace, assistant superintendent for the Canadian Immigration Service in Europe, said the latest drive for new settlers by federal and provincial agencies is "meeting with the most heartening response." Inquiries are coming from interested parties in almost every walk of life, with farmers and artisans predominating.

"If the present flow of applicants continues at the current rate we should have no difficulty achieving our target of 150,000 new settlers in 1951," Wallace said.

He is hopeful more than 25,000 emigrants will be sent from Britain, which would mark an appreciable increase over the intake within recent years.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Man Asks How To Heal Wound Of Betrayal By Married Inamorata, Who Stayed With Her Husband When Showdown Came

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a married man, 40, well-to-do, with a good average family. For the past several years I have been party to an intense affair with a young married woman. We have been going out together three to five times a week. She has accepted my gifts of money, fur coat, jewelry, etc., without regard to who knew it. She threw away her own wedding ring and said she lived only for me.

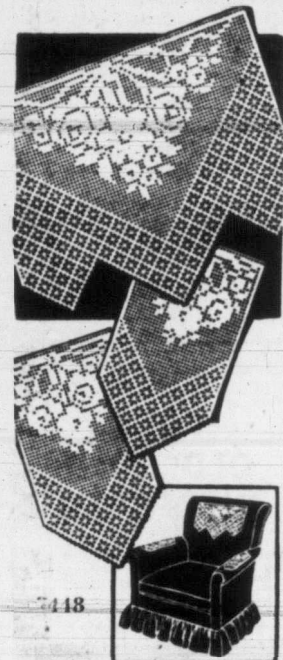

The years seemed to prove that our love was too strong for just an affair. We planned to divorce our respective spouses and get married. Edith (I'll call her) faced up to my wife all right, told her that she loved me, and didn't care anything for her husband. However, when confronted by her own late spouse, she did a rapid about-face. I left the scene a puzzled and broken fellow. She didn't telephone or make any move to see me after that.

When finally I went to see her she announced that she still loved me, and would call me as soon as things quieted down. Later she said I didn't understand her position; that she was "in the middle." Over two months have passed since then, and I have learned that she cheated on me as well as her husband. Many things she told me, and others, were lies; and looking back I wonder why I believed any of it.

TRIES TO SEE BRIGHTER SIDE

I realize now that actually I am lucky to have no ties to her, and that her husband probably will have to go through it again.

BABY'S OWN Tablets

Would psychiatry (which I suppose you will recommend) mean that I'd have to go back to childhood and search introspectively through all my experience, in sessions that would drag on for months? Can psychiatry treat one specific problem, or must it take in one's whole experience, to be helpful? I can afford extensive treatment, but would begrudge the time involved, if it were very lengthy. —J. B.

HABITUALLY LOW ON SELF-ESTEEM

Dear J. B.: It probably would be more to the point of your distress to discover why you've been a double-crosser in relation to your wife. The sensation you are trying to describe when you speak of "the awful hurt of being betrayed" by Edith, is really loneliness. I think—and loneliness is bleakly intensified by a sudden terrific decrease in your already deficient self-esteem, when you discovered that Edith's spouse yields more power than you in a test of strength regarding "claim" to her.

I should say that your self-esteem never has been up to par, for psychological health—a conjecture based on the truism that Don Juans usually are fellows who suffer from a peculiarly ailing ego. The faithless husband is, in general, a chap in quest of affidavits that he is indeed a man. And because of his profound dubiety that he is or could be "a man amongst men," he takes the harem approach (as it were) to the assignment of documenting his alleged (or hoped-for) male supremacy.

Thus to my way of thinking, you already had a couple of strikes on your sense of well-being—in terms of grave self-doubts—before Edith's husband shattered your delusion that (1) you had cut him out and (2) thereby proved yourself theoretically "the better man." That's why you feel completely unstrung; and falsely attribute your depression to "disillusionment" with Edith's character.

MUCH IS WRONG IN HIS MAKE-UP

Your crashing frustration in a mistaken romance is simply one manifestation of much that is wrong, or at any rate snarled up, in your personality. The episode points to great immaturity, insecurity, and anxious selfishness on your part. To use a well-worn phrase, you are a case of arrested development. What psychiatry can do about this is to help you see, understandingly, the floundering, frightened person you have been, as versus the worldbeater you'd like to be—so that you can come out of the fog, on your own power, and turn your latent real capacities to lastingly good account.

Psychiatric doctors specialize in treating specific eruptions of emotional distress, and in that they differ from psychoanalysts, who cautiously undertake to bring about major revisions in personality structure. So, in regard to your problem, you may take your choice—of getting specialist help for the duration of the present crisis; or of going to work on your personality as a whole. Which ever you do, pick the specialist with care, and give your confidence only to a practitioner who recognizes that human nature embraces a great deal more, potentially, than a merely "animal" heritage.—M. H.

A Capping Ceremony At St. Joseph's

Largest class to be admitted to St. Joseph's School of Nursing received caps and school pins in a candlelight ceremony recently in the nursing school auditorium. Students, who had just completed the preliminary period of theory and practical work, were introduced to the Hospital Superior, Sister Mary Rose, by director of nursing education, Sister Mary Lucia, and presented with caps. Sister Mary Gregory, director of nursing, presented pins.

Miss Bernadine Jarhouse gave welcome from the Students' Council; Miss Elizabeth Lence of the senior class presided at the candlelighting ceremony.

Miss Margaret Perry, a newly-capped nurse, sang "My Task," and Miss Norma Corkle entertained with piano solos. Sister Rose Mary spoke briefly, congratulating the new nurses and their parents, remarking that the students offered a rebuff of the so-called teenage problem.

"Here is a group of teen-agers," she said, "who have demonstrated their ability to cope with the problems of life and death with a maturity which has merited their acceptance by the school of nursing and hospital."

Refreshments were served guests, parents and friends at close of the ceremony.

The following students received caps: Isabel Andersen, Velma Brown, Joan Bacon, Bernice Emery, Caroline Hamel, Bernadette Lineham, Amy Myers, Elsie Nielsen, Marguerite Perry, Robin Ray, Maisie Soong, Nora Wolfe, Victoria; Jeannette Apponen, Wilma Atkinson, Bernice Davidson, Marie Davis, Pauline Pellerin, Ladysmith; Darlene Baird, Regina; Sharon Campbell, Ivy Hadley, Eva Keast, Elizabeth Morohuk, Verna Pattullo, Helen Witzinsky, Trill; Dorothy Brown, Comox; Joan Carstens, Courtenay; Doreen Cooper, Penticton; Verna Gelling, Rossland; Emily Gutfriend, Loretta Hronek, Kelowna; Shirley Gyves, Salt Spring Island; Kathleen Hartman, Fraser Lake; Agnes Eisenhut, Mary Keller, Oliver; Donella Hooker, Horsefly; Frances King, Vancouver; Una Lowe, Miriam Walmsley, Duncan; Jeanne Ungaro, Vernon; Ann MacDowell, Cobble Hill; Mary McKee, Port Kells; Ned a Nichyporuk, Bonnyville, Alta.; Kathleen Ewart, Dawson Creek; Verna Oulton, Ruth Herman, Smithers; Marianne Perzinger, Tahsis; Gloria Preetzman, Salmon Arm; Patricia Primrose, Calgary, Alta.; Theresa Rhymer, Albert; Joyce Reicken, Clinton; Mary Roberts, Sidney; Anne Louise Rock, Dorothy Vawden, Nanaimo; Marilyn Roe, Qualicum Beach; Ann Smith, Kamloops; Patricia Tucker, Whaletown.

When it comes to little one-cup teapots this shop had them too. One was a Toby pot about three inches high and 2 1/4 inches in diameter. The little rascal can tempt the interested buyer even with its $3.25 placard. Cozy teapots are the cat's whiskers for they hold a cream jug and sugar bowl atop themselves with the greatest of style. In Pompadour design the set is $4.25.

While we're kneedeep in novelties there's a couple of frogs settin' on a lily pad that I think would delight the most critical buyer. Tea Will Be Served Mam In New Teepee Teapot

By PENNY SAVER

Paint me white and call me a paleface, if I didn't see a teapot shaped like a teepee, in my wild and woolly travels this day. Oh, ho! You think Penny's been touching the korn likker bottle . . . Well, not quite . . . straight coffee, maybe, but nothing stronger!

This seven-inch-high teepee displayed a maple leaf and moose decoration with a totem pole as handle and an Indian brave supporting the spout. At the base of the pot it measured about six inches in diameter. All for $6.95.

Sitting provocatively next to the teepee was an English cottage teapot and from its quaint old chimney to the base of the door on the front of the pot it measured eight inches. Roof top comes off, too . . . because the roof serves as a lid. It's $2.50.

When it comes to little one-cup teapots this shop had them too. One was a Toby pot about three inches high and 2 1/4 inches in diameter. The little rascal can tempt the interested buyer even with its $3.25 placard. Cozy teapots are the cat's whiskers for they hold a cream jug and sugar bowl atop themselves with the greatest of style. In Pompadour design the set is $4.25.

Friends Meet Again In Victoria

Sir Louis Beale, K.C.M.G., C.B.E., L.L.D., and Lady Beale, left, met old friends, Sir Frederick Maze and Lady Maze, when they came to the city recently for a short visit. Sir Louis was guest speaker at a crowded meeting of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon. At a luncheon meeting earlier the same day he addressed the Men's Canadian Club.

Speaker Says Europe Threat To World Peace; Days Of Easy Living Over

"It is in Europe that the greatest threat to world peace will be found," Sir Louis Beale, K.C.M.G., C.B.E., L.L.D., told members of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

The speaker added that it is also in Europe that the destiny of the world will be decided.

"Events in Asia have loomed so large in months past, we have almost lost sight of Europe," he continued, "and perhaps that is what the Kremlin wants."

"For you must remember that today it is Moscow who can choose the place where trouble will start. We have lost the initiative."

"That is the great challenge," the speaker said in clear ringing voice, "and we must meet it."

"We must place a sufficient army in Europe at the earliest possible moment, for the difficult task that is ahead."

Sir Louis spoke briefly of the five big events arising out of the past half-century—the shift of power from Europe to the United States, "from the Old World to the New," the rising importance of Canada in world affairs, "so closely aligned as she is with the United States," the big thrust of communism, atomic power and the brotherhood of United Nations.

Looking ahead to the future, he told his audience that days of easy living were over.

"For some time we will have all-out war or the threat of war. If we are to survive, we must fight in every way we know to preserve the peace of the world. "We can overcome our difficulties and the danger ahead and we can do the job. As you know, the test of character is to be up against it. And we are up against it now!"

Sir Frederick Maze introduced the speaker and Mrs. W. H. Wilson thanked him at close of his address.

Decorate Home For Family Suggests Renowned Artist

"In dealing with art we are not dealing with anything tangible. We are dealing with something abstract," stressed Mrs. Barbara Woodward, guest speaker at the meeting of the Home Economics Association last evening.

Mrs. Woodward, renowned as an authority on bird, animal and plant life, painter and author of many textbooks, added that "no normal person is without the spark of art, even if it is used to choose a hair ribbon."

"Often our homes reflect on our personalities, as the home is the background from which we start off. It instills in us peace, happiness, love of beauty, or the reverse."

Keynote of her talk, "Art gets into the home through the expression of the people living in it," was backed with explanations of the necessity of pleasing and restful balance, symmetry and line.

"Nothing is worse in a home than a set look," said the artist. "Your home should look warm and welcoming, and most important of all, lived in."

Stressing pictures as a dominating feature of a room, Mrs. Woodward suggested, "have one wall in a neutral shade for a display of your pictures. Don't be afraid to change them often. You will be amazed how they come to life again after a short absence."

Mrs. Woodward concluded her talk with the valuable suggestion, "Open up your home to your family."

Business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Irene McGuire, vice-president.

Mrs. O. Lionel, Victorian Order of Nurses, gave a report of work lectures she will give in schools; Miss Yvonne Love, health branch, Department of Health and Welfare, spoke on steps taken to improve eating habits of children in the province.

Women's Institute Plans Clothing Drive

A used clothing drive in aid of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada has been planned by Brentwood Women's Institute, for Jan. 25.

Woodward, social welfare; Miss R. Donald, handicraft; Mrs. C. Douglas, home economics; Mesdames F. Littlewood, and G. V. Williams, house committee.

Mrs. G. Moody reported on recent annual 500 card party, and Mesdames M. C. Goodman and F. Howard were welcomed as new members.

A novelty bridge party has been planned for Jan. 26, in Institute Hall, and a Valentine fancy dress party on Feb. 16.

DO YOU KNOW THESE SIGNS OF WASTEFUL TIRE WEAR???

(a) Excessive wear in centre of tread, caused by over-inflation.

(b) Scalloped appearance, caused by tire being out of balance (and possible faulty brakes).

(c) Feathered edges, caused by faulty alignment of wheels.

These conditions mean wasteful tire wear and can lead to blow-outs and defective steering.

We recommend a check on wheel alignment and tire balance every 5,000 miles, and we have the precision equipment to do it right.

SO TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR TIRES TODAY!!

Just phone or call for an appointment.

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Sensible Mrs. A. sees visions of things which are not there, mild-mannered Mr. B. becomes irritable and picks fights at the drop of a hat, rich young Bill gets picked up by the police for stealing oranges. These changes in behavior may mean a "nervous breakdown." Perhaps it is merely the result of worry or overwork or perhaps a sign of serious mental difficulty.

The term "nervous breakdown" is used for many different conditions, and it isn't surprising, therefore, that some people who are supposed to have a nervous breakdown get along better than others. Someone who suffers only from a mild case of nervous exhaustion caused by overwork may need a good rest and nothing more.

Just as in other human ailments the problem is to find out what is causing the mental difficulty. This is not always easy.
The causes of many mental conditions are not thoroughly understood. Some of them may come from the heavy strains of modern life and the great mental tensions produced by the world of today. Others, no one knows how many, are possibly related to heredity.

Psychotherapy (which is mental treatment administered by brain specialists), rest, physical therapy including hot or cold baths, hand work, and shock treatments are often helpful and have brought thousands back to normal. Although much still has to be learned about cases, prevention, and treatment of the various kinds of mental diseases, progress is already far advanced.

Wage Proposals
For Packinghouses

Different recommendations on wages were made by each of the three conciliation board members in a dispute between the United Packinghouse Workers of America and United Farmers Ltd. and Buckfields Ltd.

Employees of plants of Buck-fields at Victoria, Sidney, Vancouver, Abbotsford, Langley and Mission, and the plant of the United Farmers Ltd. at Haney, are involved.

It was unanimously recommended the work week be reduced from 44 to 40 hours and that for every 1.3 advance in the cost of living under 1 cent per hour be granted.

Further to this: The board chairman recommended a 7 cents per hour increase; employer's representative, recommended three cents an hour increase; and the employee's representative recommended 15 cents an hour.

Red Cross Blood Service Aids
Serious Brain Operation

The Red Cross blood transfusion service showed its effectiveness once again Wednesday evening when a rare type of blood, B-Rh negative, was required for a woman patient who had undergone a serious brain operation.

The Red Cross had only four names in its files of people with the rare blood, but contacted them in a short time. All four answered the call and hurried to the hospital and contributed blood.

The patient was reported to be progressing satisfactorily today.

Red Cross officials said the donors were N. Lynn, 3166 Mil-ligrave Street; Miss B. Le Hurat,
Mount Edward Apartments,
Vancouver Street; C. Dryden,
2175 Guernsey Street, and Miss
Joyce Quint, 108 Menzies Street.

Wins Title Of 'Miss Laurentian 1951'

Pretty Gabrielle Chalfoux is pictured when she won the title of "Miss Laurentian 1951" over 21 contestants from 11 Laurentian mountain villages. The 17-year-old beauty will reign over the seventh annual Laurentian winter sports carnival. She's "crazy" about movie star Gregory Peck, but "scared stiff" of photographers looking for "cheesecake" pictures. Miss Chalfoux works as a clerk in a bank in Ste. ## Truman Rushes Action On Wage, Price Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today the United States government will bring prices and wages under control just as rapidly as it can.

He told his press conference he could not attempt to pin down the date of a price-wage freeze or other action, but said ceilings will be imposed as soon as practicable.

He said he had not discussed with Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson a reported proposal to bring Eric Johnston, former president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, into the office of Defence Mobilization as chief economic advisor.

But Truman said he was sure Wilson would discuss with him such a proposal if it came in his mind.

(The New York Times said today the Motion Picture Association of America, which Johnston now heads, had agreed to grant him leave for the government post.)

Urges 'Drop Bomb'

MARCH AIR BASE, Calif. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosy) O'Donnell, returning from command of Far East bombing today, urged that "we use the most effective weapon we have against Red China." Asked if he meant the atom bomb he said: "Yes."

"If we're going to fight, let's not hit 'em light, for heaven's sake," the outspoken general told reporters as he assumed duties as the head of the strategic 15th Air Force here.

"It's time people knew that this is an all-out war," he said. "This is a global war. We won the first round but this is the second round and we are losing on points."

"I believe we should have cracked the Chinese Communists hard and smashed the hell out of them as soon as we had them identified."

"I am in complete accord with the United Nations, but it makes a very poor substitute for military headquarters in a campaign."

Mazur Bought 1-Way Ticket

Michael Mazur, 22, of Edmonton, who committed suicide in Victoria Tuesday after shooting his best friend, possibly never intended to return from the coast city.

This was revealed today in Edmonton as airline officials announced that the youth had purchased only a one-way ticket when he flew to Victoria Monday.

Meanwhile, plans are being made to take the bodies back to Edmonton for burial after a coroner's inquest here tomorrow. (See Story Page 3)

Jobless Pay Is Lost By Carpenters

More than 500 Victoria carpenters and laborers who applied for unemployment insurance benefits when most major construction jobs closed down last April during the strike by truckers at the building supply firm of Evans, Coleman and Johnson Brothers received disappointing news from Ottawa today.

Mr. Justice Alfred Savard, Unemployment Insurance Commission umpire, has notified Victor Midgley, business agent for local carpenters, that he would not allow the claims of the Victoria construction men.

See where Princess Margaret has been scolded for "followin' the hounds." Rackon she'd have come in for a lot more criticism if she'd got in front of 'em.

While our chimneys were topplin', Britain was havin' flu' trouble too.

Even a man with a cold in the head can sing "My dime is your dime" to the Solarium.

Boys Must Be 'Greenhorns' For Page Jobs

Two qualifications are necessary for the page boys at the B.C. Legislature this session. They must be inexperienced and fit one of the uniforms the sergeant-at-arms has on hand. It was revealed today.

All must be "greenhorns" so that none of the boys will lose their schooling for the sessional period for two years running.

Selection of the page boys is left to officials of the Greater Victoria School Board who have picked 14 from the elementary schools.

U.N. Patrol Escapes Red Trap

TOKYO (AP)—Tank-led Allied troops battled two companies of Chinese Reds tonight in a brief but fierce local clash in and near Kumyangjang on the Korean western front.

The U.N. patrol, under air cover, then smashed out of a threatened enemy envelopment. The reconnaissance patrol reported one of the Chinese companies held dug-in positions northwest of the village, and the other in the town itself.

The patrol estimated it killed or wounded 25 Reds in an hour and a half fight.

For a time the Reds threatened to flank the patrol's positions and cut off part of the probing arc. But the Americans fought their way out.

Some allied casualties were reported and some equipment was lost in the withdrawal.

SPRING HAIRCUTS TO GO UP 10c, BARBERS WARN

Price of haircuts went up 10 cents in Vancouver today and a similar increase in Victoria before spring appears certain.

The increase to 85 cents is made necessary by increased operating costs. Journeymen barbers will receive seven cents of the increase and owners three cents.

In Victoria, journeymen barbers are expected to ask for more pay before spring. Barbers now receiving $30 a week guarantee and a percentage of the take, average around $40 a week.

Price of haircuts here now is 75 cents. Price in New Westminster is $1.

War Crisis At A Glance

PARIS—France agreed to condemn Red China as an aggressor in Korea. Indian Prime Minister Nehru continued to believe the China Communist reply to the U.N. cease-fire did not constitute a complete rejection.

KOREA—Allied troops, led by tanks, fought fierce local clashes with Reds on Korean west front. A Red build-up of all forces across the peninsula heralded a new giant offensive soon, U.N. field leaders believed. Red targets in the Seoul area took a pounding from Allied bombers. Allied fighters, Shooting Stars, jets and Mustangs shot up the enemy over a wide area.

LONDON—Britain's cabinet went into another session to consider new orders to be sent to Sir Gladwyn Jebb, its chief U.N. delegate at Lake Success.

ROME—Gen. Eisenhower met with Italian government chiefs for a look at Italy's arms potential. Red demonstrations protesting his visit have already killed one person, injured hundreds.

Miners' Wages Upped

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis and representatives of virtually all United States soft-coal mines late today signed an agreement calling for a $1.60 daily wage increase, effective Feb. 1.

Lewis told a press conference "the country is now free from any thought of a so-called coal crisis for an indefinite period of time."

The United Mine Workers' president added that was not a "no-strike pledge," however.

Lewis said the scattered operators not represented in the signing of the agreement would be brought in "in a very short time."

Negotiations are also under way covering the anthracite industry, with 80,000 Pennsylvania miners. Lewis disclosed. He expressed the opinion a "corresponding" wage increase would be forthcoming there.

Although a quick wage and price stabilization program, neither the operators nor Lewis said they had made contact with government officials about their settlement.

Appeal On Damages Opens

Appeal case of Adolph E. Struben against a Supreme Court damage award of $12,000 to James Craig opened in Appeal Court today. Craig, motorcyclist, was injured in a crash with a truck driven by Struben on Grandview Highway, Vancouver, June 17, 1949.

MISSION, B.C. (CP)—R.C.M.P. today sought a 14-year-old schoolgirl missing since Tuesday morning. Shirley Joyce Moore left school Tuesday after telling friends she felt ill and was going home.

Austin Makes Demand

Delegate Seeks Assembly Action

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United States' Warren R. Austin today called on the United Nations to consider as a fact that Communist China has committed aggression in Korea and has treated the U.N. with scorn and derision.

Austin told the General Assembly's 60-country political committee:

"It is clear to my government that the Peiping regime has committed aggression and that the General Assembly must say so."

The chief U.S. delegate said Red China's latest message rejecting the U.N. cease-fire appeal is not a reply from the Peiping government but "is their master's response, that of the Soviet ruling circle."

"They must think the United Nations trivial and contemptible indeed to have sent it such a reply," Austin declared.

WORLD PATTERN

He charged that the "aggression is part of the world-wide pattern of centrally-directed Soviet imperialism." Because of this, Austin said, the U.S. believes that "the actions we take in the United Nations must be tailored to fit that pattern."

The expected U.S. resolution was not ready for introduction, but Austin outlined the main points to the committee as follows:

1. Condemnation of Red China as an aggressor.
2. Another appeal for Peiping to cease hostilities and withdraw.
3. A reaffirmation of the U.N.'s intention to continue its efforts to meet aggression in Korea.
4. An appeal to all U.N. members to lend their support and to refuse aid to aggressor nations.

FINAL BULLETINS

Victoria Juveniles Make Escape

Two Victoria juveniles who are serving terms in the Boys' Industrial School, Port Coquitlam, broke out of the institution today, city police said.

One of the youths was involved in the Kessler Confectionery hold-up late last year. This is the second time in three weeks that he has escaped from the school.

The other youth was charged with breaking and entering at Renfrew Cleaners last year.

Oldest Winnipegger Dies At 106

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg's oldest citizen, 106-year-old Henry Timlick, died today in a nursing home. He would have been 107 March 4.

'Rippling Street' Causes Concern

NANAIMO (CP)—A "rippling" street here today brought engineers on the scene to determine whether the road is sinking into abandoned coal mine shaft.

The provincial government engineers will take levels on a portion of Nichol Street and compare them with levels taken at a later date.
